Need and Role of Ankur Pratishthan

- ❖ India has a 3 system process for orphans viz. Adoption Centres, Child Care Institutions and After Care Institutions
- ❖ Adoption Centres only cater to 0-5 years after which the orphans are sent to Child Care Institutions (CCI's) to stay there until they are of 18 years of age. After Care Institutions provide support between 18-21 years of age.
- ❖ A CCI does everything it can to ensure the well being of its children. The basic needs of nourishment, clothing, health & hygiene, shelter and education are all diligently taken care of by almost every CCI.
- ❖ As per the Jena Committee Report published by the Ministry of Women and Child Development, Govt. of India, in September 2018; there were around 3,70,277 Children in Need of Care and Protection (CNCP) residing in 9589 CCI's in India out of which Maharashtra had 1284 CCI's looking after 57,022 CNCP.

 Some children have been counted under more than one category

Need and Role of Ankur Pratishthan

- ❖ The data from the same report indicates that around 70% of the CCI's struggle to provide anything more than the most basic facilities needed for development for various reasons.
- ❖ The un-adopted children in the CCIs are devoid of basic human necessities for an wholesome Emotional, Intrapersonal and Interpersonal Development
- ❖ We are here to bridge that gap and by supplementing the fantastic work of the CCI's, we offer the children a chance at holistic development of self and effectively, the world around them.
